The Paris Fashions Number mirrors the Paris mode from a conservative little tailleur by Doucet to a statuesque affair in gold and silver lace from the house of Jenny. Quilted coats and flashing embroideries, filmy tunics and brisk tailleurs, startling colour, magnificent fabrics, varied silhouettes—every page of this issue of Vogue illustrates just how the Paris openings have outlined the winter mode.

And besides the scores of drawings through which the Paris creators speak so decisively, there are pages of hats, something about the astonishing laces so favored of fashion, and a dozen drawings of some of the smartest new country clothes Vogue has ever shown. And, of course music, art, New York Society, and a brilliant review of the new plays. Be sure to buy this issue today. It will be sold out tomorrow!

Near East Relief Official Answers Wine Dinner Charge

Vickrey Says Allegations Are Result of Organization's Prosecution of Thiefs From Starving Families

Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, last night issued a statement regarding news dispatches from Constantinople mentioning charges that officials of the organization expended relief funds for entertainment purposes and that wine was served at dinners given by relief officials.

Asserting that these allegations were the outgrowth of prosecution by the Near East Relief of seven ex-servicemen formerly employed by the organization in Constantinople, the statement said in part:

"The men who make these allegations are now being tried on the charge of stealing supplies destined for the relief of starving women and children of the Near East."

Counter Charges Expected

"The Near East Relief itself instituted proceedings against these men. We were perfectly well aware that the men charged with these thefts would seek to defend themselves by bringing counter charges against the relief organization in the hope of excusing their offense; but we determined to report in which an effort to cause his dismissal was recommended."

The resolution set forth that Mr. Post was "guilty of obstructing the enforcement of the alien deportation laws," and that his continuance in office was a "serious menace to public security." The resolution continued: "Resolved, that we approve and adopt the report of the investigating committee and that the national committee be directed to take all steps necessary to secure the dismissal of the said Louis E. Post at the earliest possible moment."

Death Halts Will Fight

The death Sunday night of the second wife of David W. Myers, Brooklyn garage owner, who is seeking to get possession of his fifteen-year-old daughter, Hazel Myers, through a contest of the will of Mrs. Mary Shepard Morris, foster mother to the child and a sister of Myers, brought a temporary halt in the legal battle yesterday. The will contest involves not only custody of the girl, but an estate valued at $1,000,000 bequeathed in the main to her.

According to Joseph R. Myers, attorney, Myers is ill at his home, 101 Troy Avenue, October 14 is the date set for probating the will.

Device to Salvage Ships Sunk in War Perfected

New York Man Heads Company Backed by $5,000,000 Which Begins Operations

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 1.—A. H. Salinger, of New York, has perfected a new hoisting device which is being tested out and which he asserts will be effective in salvaging the thousands of valuable ships and cargoes which were sunk during the European war.

Salinger heads a $5,000,000 corporation. He began operations to-day at St. Augustine, Fla., to raise the steamer Isis, formerly the private yacht of Cleveland Paulding, which sank off Anastasia Island last February.

Salinger's device has an electric control operated from above the surface. This directs its passage to the base of the sea and under the ship, clearing the keel by eight feet and emerging on the opposite side of the vessel, where it is attached to a cable. When enough of the cables are placed under the ship to attach to pontoons of a special collapsible type, air is pumped into the pontoons and the ship is raised to the surface.

The inventor asserts that his method is much less costly than those at present employed, and that the time required to complete the task is greatly reduced.
